WBAI 99.5 FOLIO

JANUARY 1991

WHAT PRICE OIL?

Report to the Listeners

Valerie van Isler
Interim General Manager

These troubling times call for an extraordinary response. It is increasingly difficult to deliver fine programming when faced with a serious budget deficit, having to find money for a new transmitter in order to keep our signal clear and strong, and—most devastating—the rather immediate prospect of a master antenna move which may cost WBAI nearly one million dollars over the next few years.

The times are indeed difficult. Our January membership goal is $350,000, which will allow us to stay on target and keep on going. Much more than ever, we need your continuing faith in this institution which has served you so well all these years. We need your continuing financial support so that we can do our necessary work in these extraordinary times.

Please be especially generous.

... Something silent this way comes .... It is a time of "turning and turning in the widening gyre," as Yeats would have it. Threats of war surround us with increasing uncertainties and mounting frustrations about the dangerous direction of world events. And we are caught in the curve of history at a critical turning point.

Live! from the

RADIO TO THE RESCUE

Anthony J. Sloan
Arts Producer

In the modern world, more people have access to radio than to television, theater, and the movies. Because of this, radio drama is a way to reach the largest possible audience. It's also an opportunity to reach people at a level wherein one doesn't dictate a total image, a total sound to them–it's an active participation. As a listener, you have to use part of you; you have to create images with the creators. The creators are suggesting and you're completing the creation.

I come from a Black theater tradition in which there are basically five elements: there's always a social element, a political element, a spiritual element, a historical element, and some type of musical or rhythmic element. These are the elements of the Black arts movement of the 60s, and I always try to incorporate them into my radio drama adaptations.

Some contemporary Black filmmakers have suggested that there are no writings worth filming and thus they write and produce their own works. As a person steeped in the African American tradition, I don't understand that phenomenon because our tradition is replete with great writing. Even if they should find the writings of today lacking, there's always the writings of the 60s, the early 50s, and, of course, the Harlem Renaissance.

We've chosen to adapt Richard Wright's works as a reaction not only to those contemporary filmmakers, but also to philosopher Mortimer Adler's complete disregard and dismissal of African American works in his list of the 60 greatest books of Western civilization in the Encyclopedia Britannica. Certainly this list should include Wright, along with a whole slew of African American male and female writers.

Our presentation on the 28th will use as its sources Richard Wright's posthumously published novel, Lawd Today (1963), and what I feel to be his greatest novel, The Outsider (1953).

Anyone listening to this radio drama will understand the disservice that white-skinned-privileged phiosophers, academicians, and commentators, along with other "pretenders to the throne," have done to the world body of literature.

Nuyorican Poets' Cafe

The cafe is a perfect situation for radio because the readers are enlivened by the audience and the audience responds to the readers, thus eliminating that kind of staid, folded arms and folded legs quality of many reading series. Further, the cafe brings radio out of the studio and into the ambiance of living people, recreating the sense of radio being spontaneous and alive.

Report

This is no easy time for humankind. Hopes for peace flicker only to dim the next day, the next hour, the present moment. Our fears are confirmed by nightly reports of more and more soldiers massed in the Gulf, preparing for war but praying for peace ... sometimes.

The president says, "It won't be like Vietnam this time." WBAI remembers that war, sent reporters to cover that war, and helped to stop that war in the 1970's. But what if the war comes this time?

We will be here again to report on whatever conflicts come, whatever peace initiatives are taken, and whatever diplomacy can accomplish. Yet, we will do whatever we can to stop the conflagration that would be a third world war. "Pacifica" means peace and as part of our mission to serve the public interest and the community good, can we do otherwise than our best to bring you the most informed sources, the latest news, the breaking events, and a comprehensive analysis of actions as they unfold?

We think not. The WBAI January 1991 membership drive will focus on just these issues because we have chosen "The Politics of Oil" as the thematic framework for the many special programs which are planned. From opening day Wednesday, January 9th, to January 25th when we conclude, we will be reporting on the crisis in the Gulf, the reaction of the international community, and the growing resistance to this war at home and abroad. We will be broadcasting a major forum on the Middle East live from New York to the rest of the country and we hope to cover the demonstrations taking place in front of the White House in Washington.

Our New Year's wish for 1991 to all the WBAI community members, listeners, and friends is simply this:

"May Peace Prevail on Earth"

How can you:

- ❖ have bagels and coffee with Shelton Walden, Santiago Nieves, Delphine Blue, Laura Flanders, Robert Knight, Mario Murillo, Rosemari Mealy, and many others?
- ❖ answer telephones with Amy Goodman?
- ❖ follow in the footsteps of Lynn Samuels, Jim Freund, Fred GeoBold, Tom Tortorella, and many other WBAI producers?
- ❖ meet interesting, involved and dedicated people?
- ❖ make sure your community radio station stays on the air?

By volunteering your time during WBAI's January Membership Drive! Just fill out the form or call Patrice at (212) 279-0707 and sign up for a time. See you there!

Volunteer for January!

Our January membership drive is just around the corner—so pick your day and time and return this form to: WBAI FM/Volunteers, 505 Eighth Avenue, 19th Floor, N.Y., N.Y. 10018 or call 212-279-0707.

Slick Situations: What Price Oil?

WBAI Special Programming

Tuesday 8 • 2:30 PM
& Wednesday 16 • 1:30 PM
WBAI's Environment Hour: The Big Oil Conspiracy Against Hemp. Before the age of oil the hemp plant (Cannabis Sativa) was a major cash crop in the United States. Hemp seeds provided oil for lamps and heating, and hemp rope was a crucial part of the economy. Join producer Paul DeRienzo for a look at why hemp should be brought back as a natural (green) substitute for polluting oil.

Wednesday 9 • 1–6 PM
Slick Situations: How Oil Shapes History. Americans consume 17 million barrels of oil each day, 8.4 million of which are imported. How does our gluttonous appetite for oil shape our history, politics, environment, and econmy? In Part One of this three-part program we'll examine the history of oil consumption and production with Daniel Yergin, author of the recently published book The Prize: The Epic Quest for Oil, Money, and Power. Part Two looks at the present state of our oil-based economy and its connections to U.S. military, political, and energy policy. And finally, we'll take a comprehensive look at alternative energy sources–past, present and future. Produced by Evelyn Tully Costa.

Thursday 10 • 1–6 PM
Healing the Planet: Care and Repair of Planet Earth. This special features talks by prominent thinkers on the environment, economy, and war/peace issues brought together last October by Physicians for Social Responsibility, Beyond War, and UCLA. Speakers and topics include: author Hazel Henderson on sustainable development; a look at pollution controls with Barry Commoner; Oren Lyons, Faith Keeper of the Turtle Clan Council of Chiefs of the Onondaga Indian Nation, on American values; the "Green Revolution," ecofeminism, and more. Listener participation will be encouraged throughout the afternoon. Produced by the WBAI Public Affairs Department with the Pacifica Program Service.

Tuesday 29 • 2:30 PM

2:00 Rediscovering Columbus: Countdown to '92. WBAI kicks off the countdown to the National (and International) Quincentennial celebration of Christopher Columbus' accidental encounter with the Western hemisphere in this five-hour special produced with the Columbus in Context Coalition. What really happened in 1492? Why don't we learn the truth of what went on under the orders of Columbus in our schools? Why is it important that we challenge what we learn? What can we do to change things? These and other essential questions will be addressed with special guests from around the country and the Americas. Hosts Tonya Gonella Frichner, Phillip Tajitsu Nash, and Mario Murillo will also take your calls to discuss these issues.

Live! from the Nuyorican Poets' Cafe
The Stakes in the Gulf:
A National Teach-in Sunday Jan 13

The entire world is watching anxiously as the January 15th deadline set forth by the United Nations Security Council for an Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait nears. Will the Iraqi President give in to U.S. pressure, and if he does, what will be the response of the United States? What are Washington's real objectives in the Gulf, and how is the Soviet Union playing into the hands of the White House during this crucial time in the crisis? How will the "Palestinian question" be affected should a full-scale war break out?

Starting at noon, this WBAI Special Report will address these and many other essential questions with a team of producers and commentators as well as archive tape gathered over the first few months of the crisis. Join Barbara Nimri Aziz, Phyllis Bennis, Samori Marksman, Sheila Ryan, and others as they try to keep you up-to-date with the latest developments from the Gulf in this first of several major programs on the crisis in the Gulf and the war for oil.

At 6:00PM, WBAI with the National Campaign for Peace in the Middle East goes live with addresses by :

- Eqbal Ahmed, Professor of Middle East Studies at Hampshire College
- Barbara Ehrenreich, author, columnist and lecturer
- June Jordan, award-winning poet and Professor at the University of California in Berkeley
- Jack O'Dell, International Affairs Director of the National Rainbow Coalition
- And our own Phyllis Bennis, moderator.

9:30 Third World Gallery. Music with Chico Alvarez.

Noon Natural Living. Health and nutrition with Gary Null.

1:00 Gandhi in the Park: Non-Violent Activism in the 1990s with host William Borman. Environmental Maturity and Inner Demilitarization are the imperatives of our times. Why have past movements so often been hit-and-miss, so often fallen short of their specific objectives or folded upon their achievement? Will old-style activism and coalition building serve the purpose of the 90s and the 21st Century? What is needed for a new activism?

We will discuss the relation between our daily lives and our political activism—the human and spiritual, the deep mutuality and dependence of the two. If we do not transcend our emotional politics amongst each other, how can we hope to generate the unifying force which alone can overcome the massive forces active against Truth and Justice? What is thicker than both blood and oil? What is the tie that really binds?

Martin Luther King Jr. Remembered
Monday 1/15 7PM

Today is the birthday of one of the greatest peacemakers of this century. It is also the deadline set forth by the United Nations Security Council for the withdrawal of Iraqi troops from Kuwait. What would King have thought about the use of force in the Gulf? What impact has the U.S. build-up in the region had in the African American community here at home? This evening we'll feature highlights from today's Manhattan Borough Community College forum addressing these same questions. Executive Producer, Samori Marksman.

WBAI's Monday Talkback! (4:30PM) host Malachy McCourt with actress Ann Dowd picketing outside the Daily News building recently. Tune in Thurs. at 7:00PM for a Building Bridges special: New York City: Union Town. Photo by striking Daily News worker Lauren Draper.

7:00 New York City: Union Town. A Building Bridges special with hosts Mimi Rosenberg and Ken Nash. Through the fiscal crisis of the 70s, past the PATCO strike and succession of nation-wide union losses in the 1980s, New York City has maintained itself as a bastion of trade unionism in an increasingly union-free U.S. environment. Recently, CWA and 1199 successfully defended themselves against demands for givebacks, and a united labor front helped elect pro-labor candidate David Dinkins mayor of New York City.

But soon Dinkins' promise not to balance the city's budget on the backs of workers evaporated. Further, Daily News management has adopted tactics out of the early 1930's; the Eastern and Greyhound strikes drag on.

New York: Union Town will explore the challenge to N.Y. labor through discussion with city labor leaders at a forum to be broadcast live over WBAI. For more information and other community and labor events, call the Building Bridges Community Labor Hotline at (212) 673-6961.

1:00 Con Sabor Latino. Issues and music from the Latino community, with Mickey Melendez and Hernando Alvarnez.

5:30 Who's Fighting This War Anyway? A Latino Journal Special on the U.S. Presence in the Gulf. Who are the people on the front lines in the Saudi desert defending and protecting "American interests"? Of the almost half-million men and women doing so-called "volunteer" service in the Gulf, it is overwhelmingly the poor, working class, and people of color who are putting their lives on the line. There are up to 25,000 Puerto Ricans currently serving in the Gulf, a figure which should come as no surprise given that Puerto Ricans have historically spilled their blood in every major military conflict the United States has been involved in this century. What for?

Like all people of color, Puerto Ricans living in the United States suffer disproportionately from poor education, employment discrimination, inadequate health care, and lack of decent and affordable housing. In Puerto Rico, as the majority of people continue to experience life under colonial status, young men and women are forced to leave their homes to fight for the interests of the colonial power.

In this Latino Journal Special, the many contradictions and ironies of United States involvement in the Gulf and its impact on Latinos and all people of color will be explored with documentary reports charting the history of Puerto Ricans in the armed forces, in-studio guests, and listener phone calls. Produced by Santiago Nieves with Mario Murillo and Annette Walker.

National March on the White House

Stop Bush's War Now: Fight Racism and Poverty at Home!

Saturday 1/19 12PM

Protesters at the October 20th U.S. Out ot the Middle East rally in New York City.

Join WBAI-Pacifica for live coverage from Washington, D.C. of this historic anti-war march and rally sponsored by the Coalition to Stop U.S. Intervention in the Gulf (October 20 Coalition).

This date was chosen by the Coalition because it coincides with the U.N.-imposed deadline for an Iraqi pullout from Kuwait as well as the international commemoration of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday. The date is also significant because it is the week before the opening session of Congress and President Bush's State of the Union address.

WBAI will be outside the White House with a team of reporters and producers to bring the march and rally to you. Along with addresses by former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark, Deborah Jackson of the American Association of Jurists, film producer and writer Michael Moore, attorney William Kuntsler, and a broad range of activists, scholars, and members of the clergy and artists, this nationally-broadcast special will feature in-studio discussion and analysis of the growing anti-war movement in the United States.

9:30 All Mixed Up with Peter Bochan. A special tribute to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., along with a rebroadcast of Shortcut Through the 90s, Bochan's version of the year in sound.

Noon Natural Living. Health and nutrition with Gary Null.

1:00 WBAI's Annual Martin Luther King Special. Join us in our yearly day of remembrance of the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. As the character of Martin Luther King continues to be assassinated, we'll be looking back over the years of struggle and bringing you speeches that have not yet been aired over WBAI. Hear Dr. King's speeches "The Future of Integration," "Pacem en Terres," "We Want to be Free," and others. Executive Producer, Bernard White; Producers, Dred Scott Keyes and Ulysses T. Good.

6:00 The WBAI Evening News

7:00 Behind the News. An in-depth discussion of the day's events. Samori Marksman, Executive Producer.

7:30 World View. International issues with Samori Marksman.

8:30 Sequoyah. Native American news, hosted by Troy Lang. Produced by the Solidarity Foundation.

9:00 Soundscapes: Explorations in Radio, Sound, and Music. Tonight we'll present two documentaries by producer Andy Lanset. The first will feature the life and times of Marcus Garvey; the second will look at General Smedley Butler, who was involved in the United States' early invasions of Nicaragua.

Repression Behind the Walls: A Tribunal

Political prisoners in the United States? The government says no, but eight renowned international judges disagree. They weighed the evidence at New York's Hunter College from December 7-10, when the International Tribunal on the Violations of Human Rights of Political Prisoners and Prisoners of War in United States Prisons and Jails convened. Their conclusion: the US government denies these incarcerated activists and freedom fighters their rights guaranteed under Article One of the Geneva Convention. These prisoners include African Americans fighting for Black liberation, Puerto Rican Independentistas fighting for self-determination, Mexicanos fighting for sovereignty, Native Indigenous people fighting against historic and current genocidal practices, and white North Americans who support these movements.

The Tribunal brought together activists and human rights workers to hear testimony presented by ex-political prisoners, activists, family members, and attorneys. The result was a five count indictment against President George Bush, his Attorney General, FBI and CIA directors, and various governors and state corrections officials for, among other things, failure to comply with fundamental laws and principals of international law and human rights and the use of their criminal justice system to repress those who seek national liberation and/or oppose US foreign and domestic policies.

What was the evidence which compelled all the judges to unanimously find those accused guilty on all counts? Sometimes shocking, certainly overwhelming, this testimony needs to be heard by more than just an eight-person panel and the thousand or so people who attended December's Tribunal, especially so given the lack of media attention the event received, despite massive publicity. Tune in as producers Sally O'Brien and Zenzile Khoisan present excerpts from this historic Tribunal

11:45 The Moorish Orthodox Radio Crusade Special. Xerox-zines, Sufism, and other fun for brainiacs. Live radio with Peter Lamborn Wilson.

3:30 Mass Backwards. The word of Satan revealed via host Mad Max. NATAS EVOL!

Tuesday 22

6:00 A Morning Show Special hosted by Dennis Bernstein. The ashes have not yet been cleared from the Savings & Loans debacle but the smoke from the failing banking industry already looms on the horizon. Tune in this morning as Dennis Bernstein, just back from covering the Senate Ethics Committee hearings on the Keating Five, continues his investigation into the S&L scandal and its impact on the economic well-being of the country. Special guests include Curtis Lang; Pete Brewton; Attorney Joseph Gochet, who represented the 17-thousand victims of Charles Keating; and Rep. Joseph Kennedy, co-sponsor of the other S&L bailout bill. And of course, your questions and comments will be encouraged.

Noon Natural Living. Health and nutrition with Gary Null.

1:00 WBAI Lecture Series: Michael Parenti: Global Militarism and the Bush Hypocrisy. The noted scholar and author of Inventing Reality: The Politics of the Mass Media, Democracy for the Few, and the soon-to-be-released Make Believe Media, discusses the contradictions in United States' domestic and foreign policy: while the Cold War is over, he observes, the U.S. military machine is far from being dissolved. This address was taped at the World Fellowship's Centennial Celebration of Willard Uphaus in October 1990.

2:30 Being Red. American novelist Howard Fast discusses his life and times in and out of the American Communist movement. Produced by the WBAI Arts Department.

4:30 Talkback! Live call-in radio with Lynn Samuels.

6:00 The WBAI Evening News

7:00 Behind the News. An in-depth discussion of the day's events, produced by Samori Marksman.

9:00 ...the Morning Show continues.

9:30 Ghosts in the Machine: Women in Pop with host Victoria Starr.

Noon Natural Living. Health and nutrition with Gary Null.

1:00 WBAI Lecture Series: Alternative Radio Presents Noam Chomsky on U.S. Policy in the Persian Gulf. MIT Professor of Linguistics and Philosophy Noam Chomsky spoke at Harvard University on November 19, 1990 addressing fundamental questions behind the Bush Administration's policy in the Gulf. Chomsky argues that despite the danger of losing many American lives in an all-out conflict, despite contradictions in U.S. Middle East Policy, this country nevertheless prefers force as the main way to achieve its objectives.

2:30 Tribute to Chinua Achebe. The Nigerian author is honored with readings of his works by Quincy Troupe, Grace Paley, Allen Ginsberg, Amiri Baraka, Toni Morrison, and others. Presented last fall by The Frederick Douglass Creative Arts Center and Poets House.

11:00 News Rebroadcast

12:00 Uncle Sam And Il Duce. Dave Emory explores the similarities between the fascist government of Mussolini and today's American corporate state headed first by Ronald Reagan and now by George Bush. Benito Mussolini—Il Duce, the Leader—ruled Italy from 1922 until the country's defeat in World War II. He worked to establish a corporate state which was little more than a spoils system benefitting the top industrialists and financiers who supported him. Mussolini coined the term "Fascism," and when asked to explain what it meant he would say, "Fascism is corporatism." Tune in for an opportunity to discuss the issues with Dave Emory. Produced by Edward McMullan.

1:00 WBAI Lecture Series: Helen Caldicott: Let's Be Hot. Long-time environmentalist and peace activist Dr. Helen Caldicott details why her concerns have not changed much from her early days in the movement. In this address given at the Healing The Planet conference last October in Santa Monica, California, Dr. Caldicott discusses how the military-industrial complex has renewed its usefulness with the crisis in the Gulf and how Western sales of military hardware to Middle East nations have contributed to the conflict. She urges President Bush to do the right thing and support "humanfare," not "warfare."

2:30 AIDS: Paths to Self-empowerment and Living Special. Join Bob Lederer, Betsy Lenke, and Nicholas Cimorelli for topical, provocative reports from the world of immune enhancement.

7:00 Disabled in Action Speaks. Last month Disabled in Action Speaks looked at Attendant Services on the national level and the plight of severely disabled people in this country. Today join host Lynn Albin and guests as they discuss the development of Attendant Services Programs in NYC and the various options available today.

Guests include: Sandra Schnur, who runs a consumer-managed Attendant Service program covering the five boroughs; Marilyn Saviola, provider of Attendant Services for homeless disabled people discussing a new threat facing severely disabled people in NY—"Cluster Care"; and community activist Hermina Jackson, who seeks to affect change in the Black community—specifically, the Black disabled community. She will talk about her role in helping to expose Medicaid back in the late '70s.

Tune in next month as Disabled In Action Speaks takes a look at the Americans with Disabilities Act—the most significant piece of civil rights legislation ever passed for the disabled community.

Closer to Home: A Look at El Salvador& Guatemala

Friday January 25 6AM–6PM

Join hosts Mario Murillo and Dennis Bernstein, along with special guests, for an in-depth report on the ongoing struggles being waged by the peoples of El Salvador and Guatemala. While much of the world's attention has been focussed on the crisis in the Persian Gulf and the restructuring of Eastern Europe, little has been said about the continuing human rights violations in Central America, particularly in these two countries, which for years have been supported by millions of U.S. tax dollars. The Cold War may be over, but as Daguberto Gutierrez, member of the National Negotiation Commission of the FMLN in El Salvador, recently said on WBAI: the fight against injustice in Central America is gaining momentum. We'll go on the ground in El Salvador and Guatemala to bring you late-breaking reports and top representatives of the popular movements in both countries.

Backtalk!

Dear Mr. Phillips:
A letter sent in by a listener H.L.S. [November 1990] complains that WBAI is misusing its limited financial resources by programming Latin music on Saturday and Sunday afternoon because, according to H.L.S., there are other outlets for "this" type of music on the AM and FM dials and therefore WBAI should return to "truly alternative radio."

I made a survey of the AM and FM stations and found out the following:

On the AM Dial—Out of 20 stations, 4 are Spanish-speaking (3 are commercial and 1 religious) and 16 are English-speaking....

On the FM Dial—Out of 26 commercial stations, 25 are English-speaking and 1 is Spanish-speaking.

Therefore, this clearly shows that WBAI is providing "truly alternative radio" with programming that reflects the needs of its listeners.

I feel that this attack on Con Sabor Latino stems from the fact that it is the most popular Latin music show in the tri-state area....Que Viva La Musica!

Attentively and respectfully yours,

E. Blair
Brooklyn, NY

Dear Andrew Phillips:
...the music played on Con Sabor Latino is of much higher quality and quite distinct from the music played on commercial radio stations and/or the music that many of us can purchase in record shops in New York City....I have been listening to WBAI for over thirty years, having grown up in a family of WBAI listeners. My mother and I organize our Sundays around the show, as do many of our friends and family. We send our subscriptions in because we love and appreciate WBAI; precisely because it offers an alternative to what we hear on other stations....

Sincerely,

R. Ovryn-Rivera
New York

Dear Mr. Phillips:
...Athough I am not Hispanic by birth or upbringing...Latin music is my music. I cannot believe that the mail is so slow at WBAI that you would stoop to publish such drivel....If HLS is protesting that Con Sabor Latino, due to its immense popularity and appeal to a community that demographics show to comprise 20% of the population of the metropolitan area, is on for 4-1/2 hours, well that's too, too bad....

Very truly yours,

J Baum
